

NCAA Prospect Communication Tips

NCAA does NOT allow college coaches to:

- Initiate or return text messages
- Call you or your parents before April 15th of your Junior year
- Visit you at your home until after Thanksgiving of your Senior year
- Send you an official scholarship offer letter before August 1st of your Senior year
- Call you between June 1st and September 1st before your Senior year (Exception – a camp logistics call)

NCAA does allow college coaches to:

- Call you once a week beginning September 1st of your Senior year
- Send you unlimited regular mail and e-mail after September 1st of your Junior year
- Receive calls from you, but the coach CANNOT call you back
- Between April 15th and May 31st of your Junior year, you can be called one time by a college coach

Important Note:

A great way of communicating with college coaches is by e-mail. Please add your e-mail account to your cell phone. This way you can leave a voicemail or e-mail message to the coach so that he can e-mail you back with the best time for you to call back.
